

Without Camp and without The Salvation Army,
I don't know who or where I would be now. I think every child should experience Camp Homelani."

– Kylie, former camper and current Youth Director

Dear <First Last Name>,

Camp Homelani, like many other programs for children, was forced to shut down in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic. That means 450 keiki across Hawaii missed out on opportunities to grow, learn, make new friends, and oftentimes, heal.

This was precisely the case for former camper Kylie. After attending Camp Homelani the year the theme was "Revolution," she learned to trust again, and build new relationships while experiencing grace and courage through her newfound faith. Kylie found hope for the first time after years of being molested by her older brother.

Fearful in her own house, she had kept the abuse a secret and tried to stay away from home as often as she could. Kylie began spending time at The Salvation Army Kahului Corps, and soon found herself at Camp Homelani.

"After Camp, I was able to be myself," she says. "I was able to have a life again. I didn't have to feel fearful or distrusting. I know that with Jesus, I can do anything and overcome everything."

Today, Kylie is the Youth Director at the Kahului Corps. She works to enrich and inspire the lives of children and teenagers, while providing them with healing resources and a safe space.

In order to provide Kylie and other staff members with the necessary resources to support keiki and young adults at Camp Homelani, The Salvation Army needs to raise $100,000 before the Camp's reopening on June 21, 2021. These funds will allow Camp Homelani to hire back all its laid-off staff members, provide scholarships to youth in need, and reinstate its various programs.

Please donate today. Your gift could change a child's life forever.
